

But what should I do about Pre-K?!

Whether to enroll in a private Pre-K program like Compass or a public school program is a difficult decision for some families. Public schools in our area are highly-rated, with dedicated teachers and administrators. So how do our programs really compare? Are the differences worth the price of tuition? Here are the ABC's.

All the back and forth: Compass Navigator's schedule is M/W/Th 9:45 to 2:45; Weekly total: 15 hours

Public Schools in our area: M-F 2.5 hours, (morning or afternoon, as assigned, may not be at home campus); Weekly total: 12.5 hours

Bigger is not better: Our Pre-K class size is capped at 14 students, with a teacher to student ratio of 1:7

Public Schools in our area: ever-increasing class size, based on a fluctuating budget and other factors unrelated to education and out of administration control

Curriculum you believe in: Compass' focus is standard, age-appropriate, kindergarten-readiness academic skills, plus

- Christian environment including regular chapel, scripture memory, prayer, and missions focus, AND
- Spanish instruction, encouraging bilingual language development as well as improving academic potential across all subject areas.

We believe our curriculum establishes a foundation for students to thrive in whatever academic setting they pursue after leaving Compass-- our excellent area public schools, private schools, or even a home school.
